Biography

OF THE LATE

VIDA ABENA OSEI

Sister Vida as we popularly addressed was born at Tapa Amenya in the Oti Region of Ghana on 24th December 1970. Her father is Opanyin Kwaku Semanhyia and mother Obaapayin Cecilia Aframea. She is the only child of the father.

Her educational journey started from Kpasa and continued to Mataheko in Accra as a junior high school graduate. She was very active in sporting activities.

Vida took to trading activities and, on her journey, she met Mr. Hanson Kwaku Osei Appiah of blessed memory. Their relationship got stronger and eventually led to a marriage of which they stayed at Accra Newtown.

They were blessed with four beautiful children; Dickson, Cindy, Mindy and Fred. This beautiful family was struck with a disaster 21 years ago when Mr. Hanson, a professional driver died in a gory motor accident.

Vida did not allow this tragedy distract her. She stayed single and with her hard work and support from the family and help from God, she was able to raise all the children through to tertiary education.

Sister Vida was born again and baptized into the International Charismatic Church Narrow Gate Assembly at Banana Inn Accra. Her zeal and enthusiasm to worship and praise God was without question and this was demonstrated in everything she did. She joined the Andrew Ministry, sharing the word of God with anyone who crossed her path, advising, counselling people to look for God and live a God-fearing life, winning many souls into the Kingdom of God. She was also a member of the Woman's Fellowship joining them in all activities.

Vida was also a politically exposed person, a very strong and dedicated member of the New Patriotic Party (NPP) and was very present in all their activities.

The Bible says in 2 Cor 5:1-2 "For we know that if our earthily house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. For in this we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed upon with our house which is from heaven". Everything on earth is temporal. We live on borrowed time here. We came naked and shall go back naked.

Sister Vida for some time had been battling with health issues. The family and the church provided all the necessary assistance to get her back to sound health but God in His own wisdom called her home on 29th July, 2026.

Sister Vida was a very lovely person, generous, team player, hardworking, strong faith in God. All we can say is indeed she fought a good fight, finished the race and kept the faith. May her maker crown her and declare her a good and faithful servant. May her work continue even in eternity. We are not saying good bye but to say we shall meet again. She was indeed a gift from God.

Isaiah 57:1-2
Meanwhile, right-living people die and no one gives them a thought. God-fearing people are carted off and no one even notices. The right-living people are out of their misery; they're finally at rest. They lived well and with dignity and now they're finally at peace.

Mummy, we miss you more than words can ever explain. Losing you has left a deep emptiness in our hearts, and we still cannot believe that we have to speak about you in the past tense and say goodbye to the woman who gave us life. You were more than a mother; you were our comfort, our prayer warrior, our encourager, our source of strength, and a home we could always return to.

We miss your voice, your laughter, your presence, your random questions, and our little conversations. We miss the calls, the daily check-ins, the moments we asked if you had been able to sleep, and the playful teasing that once seemed ordinary but has now become precious memories. We miss your prayers, your words of encouragement, and the reassurance you gave us whenever we were worried, tired, or doubting ourselves. Your words, "God will be your reminder," carried us through so much. You believed in us and always knew how to calm our fears and remind us that God would never leave us.

We miss hearing you bless us every day and knowing that our mother was praying for us, speaking life into us, and asking God to guide our steps. It hurts that life is moving forward, things are changing, and beautiful things are happening, yet we can no longer pick up the phone to share them with you. We wish we could have one more conversation, one more hug, one more prayer, or even one more ordinary day with you. We also miss the love and joy you shared with your grandson, calling him, “Nana, Nana, Nana!” and asking, “Why are you so hyper today?” We wish you could see him grow and continue to shower him with your love and blessings.

One of the greatest gifts you gave us was knowing God and putting Him first. You insisted that we have our morning devotion before going to school, and whenever we came to ask for money for school, your first question was, “Have you prayed?” When the answer was no, we knew we had to run back and pray! At the time, we may not have understood it, but you were gradually instilling the fear of God in us. You taught us to trust in the power of prayer, to honour and appreciate men and women of God, to give generously, and to be a blessing to others even when we had little.

You also taught us humility, generosity, sacrifice, hard work, and the importance of honoring people and servants of God. Through your example, you shaped our values and influenced the people we are today. You inspired us to be business-minded, to recognise opportunities, and to keep working towards our dreams. We see pieces of you in the way we think, pray, give, work, and try to be a blessing to others. You left us with more than memories; you left us with a legacy.

Mummy, we are sorry for all the suffering you endured, for all the pain you went through, and for the difficult moments you faced. We would have wished for you to stay with us a little longer. We would have loved to have more time, more memories, and more moments to show you just how much you mean to us. But God, in His own wisdom, has called you to rest. Though our hearts are broken, we pray that you are resting peacefully in the Lord's presence and that all the pain you endured here has been replaced with eternal peace.

The truth is that the pain does not necessarily get better with time; we simply learn to live with it. We learn to wake up each morning and continue with life, even when a part of us wishes everything could go back to the way it used to be. Your absence is felt in ways that words cannot capture, and the vacuum you have left feels almost impossible to fill. Yet we console ourselves in the Lord and hold on to the same God, you taught us to trust.

Our relationship with you was not just biological, but spiritual. You foretold many of our life's milestones even before we experienced them. You once charged your first son to make sure you became a grandma before your demise, and God granted you that wish.

Many times, your hope-filled handshakes made a difference in our daily lives. You kept counting the things you wished to see before your demise, while we were lost in your encouragement, believing we had forever with you. We stayed focused and shared our plans with you; little did we know that you would leave us so early.

Indeed, you have left us, but you have also left us to continue on the path you set us on. Thank you for paving the way for us. We take comfort in knowing that we have a great intercessor who has gone ahead of us and is closer to God, interceding for your children.

Thank you, Mummy, for your prayers, sacrifices, teachings, love, and even your funny corrections. Thank you for believing in us, guiding us, and giving us memories we will treasure for the rest of our lives. Thank you for taking up many menial jobs just take care of us all. Until we meet again, we will carry your words, your faith, your generosity, your love, your kindness and your memories in our hearts. We will keep going, even on the days when it hurts, because we know you would want us to.

Rest peacefully, our beloved mother, our queen. You may be gone from our sight, but you will never be gone from our hearts. We will always love you, and we will never forget you. Forever loved. Forever missed. Forever our Maa.

BY SIBLINGS

Our Dearest Vida,

Today we stand here not just as mourners, but as your proud brothers and sisters.

From the day you came into our lives, you made our family complete. You were more than a sister. You were our friend, our confidant, our advisor, our peacemaker. Your smile could heal any quarrel, your laughter could fill the whole house.

Vida, you had a beautiful soul. You loved without conditions. You forgave without keeping record. You gave even when you had little. Your kindness was not something you tried to do — it was who you were. That is why everyone who met you calls you "lovely sister" — because you truly were lovely, inside and out.

We remember your strength. We remember how you stood by us in good times and in hard times. We remember your prayers, your phone calls just to check if we had eaten, your jokes that never got old.

It is so hard to believe we will not hear your voice again. It is so painful to say goodbye.

But today, we don't just cry because you are gone, we also thank God because you lived. We thank God that He blessed us with you. To have a sister like Vida Osei was a privilege we will forever cherish.

Though your journey on earth has ended, your love will continue to guide us. You taught us to love each other, to forgive each other, and to stay together no matter what. We promise you, your siblings will stay united, just as you always wanted.

Go well, our Queen. Go well, our lovely sister. The heavens have gained an angel.

Rest in perfect peace, Vida.
Until we meet again, you will live forever in our hearts.
We love you, today, tomorrow and forever.

Your Siblings.

Tribute

BY BISHOP ASANTE MARFO-AHENKORA

To A Dear Sister and Faithful Servant

Today, we gather with heavy hearts, yet also with gratitude to God, to celebrate the life of a dear sister, a devoted mother, and a committed member of our church.

Sister Vida joined the church in its early days and soon became a well-known and deeply committed member. With her tall, sturdy presence, she was hard to miss. Yet she was not merely a member of the church; she was a passionate and enthusiastic participant in its life and work. She loved the things of God and demonstrated her commitment not only through words, but also through her presence, involvement, and willingness to contribute. Her enthusiasm was infectious, her passion genuine, and her commitment unwavering.

Her departure is a painful reminder of life's uncertainty, but her life remains a testimony to courage, faith, perseverance, and love. During the last few years, she endured a prolonged heart condition with remarkable courage and steadfast faith.

Even when circumstances became difficult, she continued to identify with the church and the family of believers. She understood that the church was more than a building or an institution; it was her spiritual home—a place where she worshipped, served, shared fellowship, encouraged others, and found strength. Remarkably, despite her condition, she remained willing to attend church in person whenever she was able.

A Woman of Courage and Sacrifice

Behind the woman we knew in church was a mother who carried an enormous responsibility.

The early death of her husband meant that she suddenly had to shoulder the responsibility of raising and supporting the four children he left behind. Although her late husband's family offered support, the journey was far from easy. She worked hard, made sacrifices, endured difficulties, and kept moving forward, even when the burden must have seemed overwhelming.

Yet she did not give up. Seeing her children grown today is a testament to her courage, determination, and sacrifice.

Her story reminds us that some of the strongest people are those who quietly carry burdens that many never see.

Some church members readily seek help when an opportunity arises, but not Sister Vida. She found it difficult to ask for assistance because she did not want to burden anyone or take undue advantage of others.

Her Battle with Illness

In the latter part of her life, she faced another difficult battle: illness. The tall, strong woman we had known gradually became frail. It was painful to see our dear sister in that condition and to wonder why she had to endure so much.

Her illness was prolonged, and the journey was undoubtedly challenging.

I remember a call she made to me from her sickbed at the 37 Military Hospital. She said, “Daa, you must pray for me because I sense death, and I dream only of relatives who have passed away.” We prayed together over the phone. She believed that God had answered, and she regained her strength. Later, she suffered a stroke. The question then was: already so frail, how would she recover fully and walk again? Yet this woman believed she would walk again—and she did.

Unfortunately, the limitations of medical care in Ghana added to her difficulties. One day, I called to ask about her condition and the treatment she was receiving, only to learn that the doctor attending to her had travelled. She had been to the hospital twice and was still waiting and hoping for his return. This broke my heart, so I arranged for her to see another cardiologist and later sought a second opinion from a cardiologist at another facility. I received a grim update from the cardiologist. Sister Vida simply said, "Daa, it is okay." I longed for my sister to recover, but the doctors could do little. We agreed to keep faith in God while following the prescribed medication and medical advice.

She sought a change of environment by visiting her hometown, and she came to church on the Sunday two weeks before her passing. When I saw how tired and weak she was, I went over to sit with her. We spoke about her visit and her return to Accra.

I received the news of her passing with mixed emotions: deep sorrow at the loss of a dear sister, yet comfort in knowing that she had given her all and had finally found rest with her Father in heaven.

Auntie Vida, I miss you dearly. I miss the konkonte and groundnut soup, as well as the Hausa koko and sobolo, that you lovingly prepared when you were strong. These may seem like simple things, but they carried something much greater: your love and generosity and these cannot be forgotten.

There are people whose absence leaves a silence that cannot easily be filled. Sister Vida is one of them.
Rest in perfect peace, Auntie Vida.

PROVERBS 18:24b
There is a friend who sticks closer than a brother.

My dearest Abena Vida, my Abena Serwaa Vida.

Anytime I called you by your full name like that, you would ask me with that heavy voice of yours and laughter on your face, “Why are you mentioning all my names like that, am I safe?” And we would all burst into laughter. Today I long to hear that voice again, but you are nowhere to be found.

You have been my friend and sister for over 30 years. From the first day you were brought to our compound as a wife, we lived together like family until you took your last breath.

Your love for people was unconditional. Your passion for God and His Word was amazing and I will not forget.

I miss your calls - calling to ask if I have done my quiet time and if I have joined the prayer meeting on Zoom. Sometimes I even lied to you that I had done it when I had not.

I remember our last conversation. I asked you if you were okay, and you said yes. You even asked me if I had prayed today, not knowing you were about to go and meet your Creator soon.

Abena, thank you for telling me about Jesus and leading me into the church where I am now a strong member. Thank you for being a true friend and a sister to me.

Abena. Dayi,e damirefa due. Due ni amanihunu. Rest in perfect peace my Dearest friend.

BY I.C.C. NARROW GATE WOMEN'S FELLOWSHIP

"And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them." — Rev. 14:13

The Women's Fellowship of I.C.C. Narrow Gate Cathedral remembers with deep love and gratitude our dear sister and mother, the late Madam Vida Osei.

Madam Vida joined the Women's Fellowship in 2005 at Lapaloma and from the very beginning, she distinguished herself as a woman who was passionate about the work of God and committed to the fellowship. She was a woman who believed in service and willingly gave her time, energy and talents to the work of the fellowship.

She became the Organizer of the Fellowship at Banana Inn and was actively involved in organising the women, particularly for the annual prayer retreats, and contributed greatly to the success of fellowship activities. She also brought creativity and a sense of togetherness to the fellowship. One of her memorable contributions was the introduction of the hot-pink 'Gele' with white lace as part of the fellowship's occasional dress code and was used to celebrate the 70th birthday of the Late Deaconess Gertrude Opare Addo. She played a lead role in organizing the tambourine ladies playing the musical instrument with admiration and such passion.

Beyond organising programmes, Madam Vida demonstrated her love through practical service. She was always ready to lend a helping hand and was particularly involved in preparing sumptuous meals and caring for others. Her willingness to serve, often quietly and without seeking recognition, reflected her dedication to the fellowship and to the people around her.

Although ill-health eventually brought her active service to a halt, the impact of her years of faithful service remains with us. Her kindness, dedication, creativity and willingness to serve have left cherished memories in the hearts of the women she fellowshipped with.

Today, we deeply mourn her passing, but we take comfort in the assurance of God's Word that those who die in the Lord rest from their labours and that their works follow them.

Madam Vida may no longer be physically present among us, but her legacy of service and love will continue to speak. We are grateful for the years we shared with her and for the contribution she made to the Women's Fellowship.

Obaa pa Vida, thank you for your service, your love and your dedication. Rest peacefully in the bosom of the Lord until we meet again at the feet of Jesus.

May your soul rest in perfect peace. Amen.

Tribute

BY ADEHYEMANLADIES

On behalf of the entire [Adehyeman Ladies] family, we pay tribute to our sister, Vida Osei.

Vida was more than a member — she was a light in our group. She showed up, contributed, laughed with us, and she supported others in good times and hard times. Her presence in our meetings and activities will be deeply missed. We will always remember her kindness, the smile, and the energy she brought to our group.

We extend our heartfelt condolences to her family, children and all loved ones.

May her soul rest in perfect peace. AMEN.

Tribute

BY THE NEW PATRIOTIC PARTY(NPP)
AYAWASO CENTRAL CONSTITUENCY

A light from our lives has gone out, and a voice we cherished and loved has fallen silent. Osonoba, Osonoba oh, will never respond again. Yet, even in the midst of our grief, we take comfort in knowing that the memories, values and sacrifices of our dear sister, Vida Osei, will continue to live on in the hearts of all who knew and encountered her.

Vida Osei was more than a member of the New Patriotic Party. She was a committed and dedicated party activist who served with distinction as a Polling Station Officer and a former Unit Committee Member for the Ayreedyeki Electoral Area. Through these responsibilities, she demonstrated a deep sense of duty, loyalty and commitment to the ideals of our great party.
She was also a selfless Polling Station Women's Organiser who consistently gave of herself in service to the party and her community. She worked to uplift the image of the party whenever and wherever she found herself, contributing her time, energy and strength without seeking recognition or reward.

To many of us, Vida was a colleague, a sister, a friend and a dependable party member. Her presence brought warmth and strength to those around her. Her commitment to party activities and her willingness to serve will remain an example to us, particularly to those who believe in the values of service, sacrifice and loyalty.

Her passing has created a void that will be deeply felt within the Ayawaso Central Constituency and the wider elephant family. We mourn the loss of a woman who dedicated part of her life to the advancement of our party and the welfare of those around her. While we may no longer hear her voice or see her among us, the impact of her service will continue to speak for her.

As the New Patriotic Party family in Ayawaso Central Constituency, we extend our deepest condolences to her family, loved ones, friends and all who had the privilege of working and serving alongside her. We pray that the Almighty God will grant the bereaved family strength, comfort and peace during this difficult period.

Vida, a place is now vacant within our hearts, and there you will forever remain. We hold you close within our hearts, and your memory will not fade. Your service, dedication and sacrifice to the party shall always be remembered with gratitude and honour.

Rest well, Vida Osei. May your soul rest in perfect peace, and may the Almighty grant you eternal rest. The elephant family will always remember you.

"May her memory forever remain a blessing."

Hymns

MHB 948
1. Abide with me: fast falls the eventide;
the darkness deepens; Lord, with me abide.
When other helpers fail and comforts flee,
Help of the helpless, O abide with me.

2. Swift to its close ebbs out life's little day;
earth's joys grow dim, its glories pass away.
Change and decay in all around I see.
O thou who changest not, abide with me.

3. I need thy presence every passing hour.
What but thy grace can foil the tempter's power?
Who like thyself my guide and strength can be?
Through cloud and sunshine, O abide with me.

4 I fear no foe with thee at hand to bless,
ills have no weight, and tears no bitterness.
Where is death's sting? Where, grave, thy victory?
I triumph still, if thou abide with me.

MHB 427
1. Through all the changing scenes of life,
In trouble and in joy,
The praises of my God shall still
My heart and tongue employ.

2. Oh, magnify the Lord with me,
With me exalt His name;
When in distress to Him I called,
He to my rescue came.

3.The hosts of God encamp around
The dwellings of the just;
Deliverance He affords to all
Who on His succor trust.

MHB 615
1 Guide me, O my great Redeemer,
pilgrim through this barren land;
I am weak, but you are mighty;
hold me with your powerful hand.
Bread of heaven, bread of heaven,
feed me now and evermore,
feed me now and evermore.

2 Open now the crystal fountain,
where the healing waters flow.
Let the fire and cloudy pillar lead me all my journey through.
Strong Deliverer, strong Deliverer,
ever be my strength and shield,
ever be my strength and shield.

3 When I tread the verge of Jordan, bid my anxious fears subside.
Death of death, and hell's Destruction,
land me safe on Canaan's side.
Songs of praises, songs of praises
I will ever sing to you,
I will ever sing to you.
